THE RESTAURANT

WINNER

GASTRONOMIC HOTEL OF THE YEAR

2009 AUSTRALIAN HOTELS ASSOCIATION

AWARDS FOR EXCELLENCE

Established in 1880, the Riverview formerly owned by Olympian Dawn Fraser has since become a meticulously renovated historic hotel, a local landmark and is nestled in the heart of Balmain. The Dining Room boasts a Contemporary British menu with variations.

With a uniquely tailored menu to reflect our specific requirements, the Riverview dining room will create a truly memorable experience. It reflects what gastropub cuisine can be about.

Chef Brad Sloane's inspired creations are winning rave reviews from the critics, and his exceptional menu for us will showcase both his ingenuity and creative flair with an emphasis firmly on freshly sourced ingredients of the highest quality.

The food served in the dining room a destination in itself. This establishment is not simply a bistro with overblown prices. I needed a bite to eat on one of those wintery cold days with some friends and on doing a few goggles' found this Hotel. I am pleased we did.

I have since attended the Restaurants grass-fed versus grain-fed beef chew-off lunch with a blind tasting. The event was marvellous.

MORE ON THE CHEF

Brad Sloane

Brad grew up on the south coast of NSW and after many cheffing jobs he (at one time he was a pest exterminator – a worry) trained with Michelin-starred Billy Reid at West London’s Belvedere Restaurant. Brad then headed back to Australia and enjoyed stints at Balzac Restaurant and Sugaroom in Sydney. Bringing those modern British influences to the reinvented Riverview Hotel, Brad continues to win over critics and diners alike with classic gastropub dishes such as fish pie, fish and chips and bread and butter pudding.

When asked “What is unique about your restaurant?”

Brad responded

“The Riverview Hotel is a historic establishment that mixes rich pub traditions with a uniquely local experience. Something we pride ourselves on is our ability to deliver a gourmet dining experience, regardless of where the customer is sitting. A Balmain local perched at the bar watching the game can order off the same menu as a couple sitting upstairs in our restaurant. This realistic attitude towards cuisine played a huge part in the AHA naming us Gastronomic Hotel of the Year 2009.”
